

ISKF - International Shotokan Karate Federation

Mission – Vision – Values

Mission

To provide the highest quality Shotokan Karate instruction to all participants worldwide through the practice of Master Gichin Funakoshi's teachings, philosophy, and principles.

Vision

To be the world's leader in Shotokan Karate following the teachings of Master Gichin Funakoshi.

To be an organization with the highest levels of integrity, leadership, and technical competency.

To promote peace and cooperation by guiding students in the development of positive character and physical fitness.

Values

The ISKF is committed to follow the Dojo Kun – seeking perfection of character, being faithful in practice, endeavoring to excel, respecting others, and refraining from violent behavior.

We strive to fully understand and apply the Dojo Kun through the practice of the Niju Kun.

Respect and Dignity

ISKF is an inclusive organization that values diversity, recognizes the human dignity of all individuals, and treats them with fairness and respect at all times.

We consider each individual worthy regardless of race, color, gender, sexual orientation, religion, national origin, marital status, disability or age.

Integrity

We are committed to maintaining the highest ethical standards, honoring our commitments and fostering an environment of mutual respect and trust.

Innovation

We strive to maintain the foundation of our founding masters while being able to adapt and improve our technical instruction and organization.

Excellence

We work continually to attain the highest level of performance for each individual, dojo and our organization as a whole.

Collaboration

We value working in collaboration with all martial artists and are committed to shared learning.
